

Overview

This lesson provides a general idea of what kind of a login screen we will build in this chapter.

This chapter covers how to create a login screen for Travel Blog Application and learn how to:

- work with input fields & keyboard
- validate input data and show errors
- show a loading indicator
- prevent user interactions during loading
- launch a screen
- persist a login state
- apply custom styles to change a look & feel of the user interface

In the next lesson, we will begin working on our travel blog application: starting with building the layout.
