

Acknowledgements

Final thoughts and acknowledgements.

Acknowledgements

Interviews are stressful and a time-sink. Whatever the outcome, remember an interview is never a reflection of one's capabilities or potential. The only mantra to abide by is to forever be on a quest of self-improvement. Keep learning and honing your craft and cracking interviews will become second nature. We make an effort to create courses that focus on augmenting the skillset of the reader by imparting technically dense content as simply as possible and also on preparing the reader for interviews which target senior positions. Often such interviews include questions that plumb a candidate's technical depth and breadth and not just the interviewee's ability to do whiteboard gymnastics with Leetcode-y questions.

Finally, every great product is a result of team-effort and so is this course. The following folks worked (super) hard and (really) long to bring this course to life on Educative. Kudos team!

- Ahsan Khalil
- Sana Bilal
- Maham Sana
- Educative's Proofreading Ninjas

We'd love to hear your feedback and thoughts on what can be improved in the course. Please feel free to reach out for any omissions or errors. We'll send a thank you reply and also acknowledge your name on this we'll send a thank you reply and also acknowledge your name on this page :)

Godspeed,

C. H. Afzal