

Solution: The German National Flag with Gradients

And here's the solution to the last challenge:

The Solution

The solution is similar to that of the French National flag challenge. This time the direction and colors are different.

Still don't get it, be sure to check out the previous solution. It will help!

The next challenge will end this series of challenges. Brace yourself!

