Conclusion

This example wasn't anything groundbreaking since the bulk of what we did was covered in the previous Follow Mouse Cursor tutorial. Instead, this deconstruction focused on some of the subtle details that you may run into when dealing with the mouse - getting the center point of a shape, dealing with page scrolls/resizes, and other shenanigans.